A dream that becomes a reality that continues for 50 years...

It all started on a cold Saturday morning in January of 1969, Doug Haag's three young kids were watching cartoons in another room and he heard these words coming from the TV, "OK Boo Boo™, let's get our pic-a-nic baskets ready, the campers are coming!" A beloved cartoon character, Yogi Bear™, living in a campground called Jellystone Park™... what a great fit for a family vacation spot!

Like many business ventures, our park began with one family, Mr. Haag's idea and enough gumption to take a risk. Elinore & David Gasser (pictured on the cover), successful road contractors, were approached by Mr. Haag, who himself was a successful advertising executive. Inspired by this concept, Mr. Haag was eager to expand this concept and he realized Wisconsin Dells, the Midwest #1 Tourism Destination, would be the ideal place! It was in the fall of 1970, Mr. Haag and a group of friends meet with Elinore & David Gasser for the purpose of purchasing land in Wisconsin Dells.

David was excited to sell the family farm land, but Elinore had other plans. She insisted that our family would build and operate the Jellystone Park™ in Wisconsin Dells. Elinore saw the family unit disintegrating and felt it was critical for families to spend time together enjoying the great outdoors.

After only 63 days of construction, 200 campsites, a Ranger Station, Pic-A-Nic Basket and Pool had been constructed. The opening was the fourth of July with a sold out weekend. The Gasser Family, now in its third generation, continues this tradition proudly celebrating our 50th Golden Anniversary! Thanks to current owners, Brent & Cate Gasser, 2nd generation owners and their family, generations of families will be able to continue this tradition to reconnect & escape the stresses of life for years to come! We look forward to meeting each and everyone of you and hearing your stories of generational camping with us! Join us for the season long celebration where you can cherish new family memories!
